Team Members: Alexandra Craine, Zaid Kazi, Cindy Tran, Joseph Trobiano

Website Description: Our website yelpfood.com takes the concept of food reviews and narrows it down by food items instead of by restaurants. The main page of the website would display all of the food reviews that people have posted. All of the food reviews come with a picture, the name of the food, the review, the reviewer name, where the food is from, comments, and likes.

HTML markups elements utilized:

<!doctype html>, <html>, <head>, <title>, <meta>, <body>, , <h1>, <h3>, <h5>, , , <input>, <hr>, <img>, , .

Possible appearance modifications:

As this is a very rough draft of the website, there are a lot of possible appearance modifications we would like to make. One of these changes is that we would make the website appear more user friendly. This would include getting rid of the current all white theme and maybe adding more color and pictures to the website. Another thing we could do is play around with the size of the pictures and reviews to see what looks best.